MAYOR ASKS HELP OF FULTON COUNTY ON SEWER SYSTEM

Fulton Commission Also Requested To Assume Half of City's Hospitals' Upkeep.

SEWER PROJECT AID ALREADY ASSURED

Mayor Key Urges Early Start on Essential Work To Relieve Unemployment Situation.

Fulton county aid in prosecution of a $13,000,000 sewer development program for Atlanta and its environs was assured Thursday afternoon when Mayor James L. Key formally asked the commission to furnish convict labor, and at the same time requested $350,000 for this year from the county to assist in meeting hospitalization expense incident to operation of Grady and the contagious disease hospitals and Battle Hill sanatorium.

The commissioners already had pledged themselves individually to assist in the sewer program when asked by the borough, but at present are contributing only $10,000 annually to the hospitals.

Mr. Key addressed a communication to Walter C. Hendrix, newly elected chairman of the commission, setting out the urgent needs of the borough in the two matters, stating that the request concerning the sewers was with a view of reducing the cost of the enterprise "to a point where the different communities interested could reasonably hope to have the work pursued and the work vigorously until completed."

Points to Deficit.

In championing the promise that Fulton county bear half the expense of operation of the hospitals of the borough, the mayor pointed to the deficit, which he declared would reach the total of $1,000,000. He expressed sympathy with the county board in that it too faces financial problems, but added they are not so great as those of Atlanta. The borough spent a total of $895,908 on the three institutions last year, Mr. Key's letter pointed out, and he asked that the county pay half that amount. He pointed out that even with that only five per cent of the amount paid would be levied on property outside the limits of the borough.

Asking the commission to permit him to appear before it personally and to call any other municipal officials it deems advisable in the effort to "reach a complete accord" in the sewer matter, the mayor stated that the improvements can not be delayed much longer. He pointed out the danger of delay, stating that immediate start on the work would do much to relieve the present unemployment situation in Atlanta.

Mr. Hendrix declared he would submit the communication to the board at its next meeting, scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, and until that time would make no comment concerning it.

Text of the mayor's letter follows:

"In behalf of the city of Atlanta I desire to ask you to give special attention to two matters in which we very earnestly ask the assistance of the county."

"One is in reference to the operation of Grady hospital, the Contagious Disease hospital and Battle Hill sanatorium. These institutions afford their service to the community as a whole, which includes the whole of Fulton county. The county has no hospital and the city very properly and cordially extends the services of its hospital to all the people of the county. The operating expenses of these three institutions during the year 1930 were as follows:

Grady hospital ..... $512,634.09
Contagious Disease hospital ..... 36,762.33
Battle Hill sanatorium ..... 146,512.52

Total ..... $695,908.94

"Some of you who have been making a study of this question feel that this expense of operation should be shared equally by the city government and the county government. The grand jury of the September-October term of Fulton superior court, after a long investigation of Grady hospital, arrived at the same conclusion, and by formal recommendation asked the county to pay half of the expense of the hospitals. I have made the statement that 85 per cent of the revenue

Pope Excoriates Birth Control And Companionate Marriage

ROME, Jan. 8. (AP)—The full power and authority of the Roman Catholic church were invoked by Pope Pius XI today to uphold the sanctity of Christian marriage and to stamp out the practices of birth control, "companionate" marriage and divorce.

In the most sweeping exposition of the church's views on matrimony in many years he condemned the use of contraception, abortion, sterilization or any other means to prevent the fruitfulness of wedlock.

His pronouncement came in the form of a long encyclical, the first of its kind in 50 years of ecclesiastical history.

In it he enjoined his bishops to propagate the church's view that marriage is indissoluble except by death, and that the family, within the meaning of this sacrament, "is more sacred than the state."

Birth control is a deed "shameful and intrinsically vicious" and a "horrible crime," the pontiff enjoined the faithful.

"Any use whatsoever of matrimony exercised in such a way that the act is deliberately frustrated in its natural power," he said, "is an offense against the law of God and nature, and those who indulge in such are branded with the guilt of a grave sin."

"Companionate" marriage came in for an equally vigorous denunciation.

Marriages of such a nature are often defended as a necessity of "modern" culture, he declared. He gave as the church's dictum that they did not partake of such culture but were "simply hateful abominations which beyond all question simply reduce our truly cultured natures to the barbarous standards of savage people."

The modern wife, the pope declared, must not carry the doctrine of obedience to husbands to the point of sacrificing her wifely dignity. He deplored, however, the doctrines of "false teachers who try to dim the lustre of conjugal faith and purity, and hold that the woman is to be freed from the responsibilities of home and family."

"This is not," he said, "true emancipation of woman.... It is rather the debasing of the womanly character and the dignity of motherhood."

Divorce, he condemned, and he called on the pronouncements of the saints and the Bible itself to show that once entered into conjugal fidelity must persist until death separates the partners.

The laws of marriage are of God, he affirmed. "These laws cannot be subject to any human decree or, on any contrary part, even of the spouses."

Persons contemplating matrimony, he said, should of course strive to dispose of, or at least diminish, the material obstacles in their way, but "provision must be made also, in the case of those who are not self-sufficient, of joint aid by public or private gifts."

Those who are not self-sufficient, he said, should be helped by the state, the church, or by private individuals.

HOOPER SEES BETTER GENERATION TO COPE WITH LIFE 10 YEARS HENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—President Hoover believes that ten years hence a new generation of Americans will begin to arise, endowed with the mental, moral and physical health necessary to cope with the complexities of life among the marvels of science.

In an interview, the president told a writer for Cosmopolitan magazine: "Only children of a new generation—a new American—can stand against this future world."

"One of the biggest of all problems is to drive in this idea of the necessity of properly born, trained, educated and healthy moral children to the voters and officials of America. This child health conference was a start—but only that. We must keep it alive and burning."

"We must follow this national conference with a series of state conferences, then group and finally individual town and city conferences, and the 'charter for children' must be drawn into the activities of government and social institutions."

"Think what this new generation married couples in straitened circumstances.

"Their necessities must be relieved as far as possible," the pope said.

Then, adopting the principles of Pope Leo XIII's "rerum novarum" encyclical as his own, he laid down the doctrine that "in the state such social and economic methods should be set up as will enable every head of family to earn as much as, according to his station in life, is necessary for himself, his wife and for rearing his children."

"To deny this," he continued, "or to make light of what is equitable is a grave injustice and is placed among the greatest sins by holy writ. Nor is it lawful to fix such a scanty wage as will be insufficient for the upkeep of the family in the circumstances in which it is placed."

The opinion of the supreme court reviewed the 1929 act of the legislature, which gave new powers to the railroad commission, calling it a "general public utilities commission vested with vast powers affecting public welfare of the entire state."

The court said: "We must not close our eyes to the fact that back of and underlying this immediate question is the ultimate and basic question whether 'public convenience and necessity' mentioned in the act could reasonably be construed to require or justify scrapping or serious crippling of railroads of the state where they are already rendering adequate service...."

The court advanced the prediction that if the railroad commission does not look into the question of whether the railroads are serving adequately when motor truck lines apply for permits, the time will come when all passengers and freight, except "heavy, bulky, low grade, basic commodities," will be carried by motor lines which operate over highways built and maintained by the public for public use.

Atlantan Routs Thugs

Though badly beaten about the head, John Farrell, of 1760 South Gordon street, frustrated the efforts of two negro bandits to kidnap him near his home late Thursday night after they had ascertained he had no money on his person.

Farrell was en route to his home when the two negroes accosted him from an automobile. One confronted him with a pistol and demanded that he "stick 'em up." He did and the negro, finding nothing, stated they were "gonna take you for a ride" and demanded that Mr. Farrell get into the car.

Farrell then snatched the pistol from the hands of the negro and crashed his fist into the face of the speaker. Hearing the noise of the altercation, R. C. Blair, of 46 South Gordon street, ran to Farrell's assistance, and the negroes jumped in their car and fled.

A second holdup reported to police Thursday night was of John (Willie) Wright, of 283 Hayden street. The bandits got right into their car before robbing him.

FLORIDA COURT BARS TRUCK LINE AS RIVAL TO RAILS

State Supreme Tribunal Holds Seaboard Is Adequately Serving Territory.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 8.—(AP)—The Florida supreme court today refused to allow a permit to a motor truck line paralleling the Seaboard Air Line Railway on the grounds that the railroad was adequately serving the territory.

The permit had been issued by the state railroad commission to H. T. line between here and Jacksonville. The supreme court overruled objections of the railroad commission to its assuming jurisdiction in the case and quashed the permit, holding that the commission does not always act "for the public convenience and necessity."

The decision upheld the railroad and the Railway Express Agency, Inc., and discussed at length the question of motor truck lines operating on public highways parallel to established railroad lines operating on privately owned tracks.

Justice Armstrong Brown wrote the unanimous opinion, but concurring opinions also were written by Justices Whitfield and Strum. Justice Buford concurred only in the conclusion and decision.

The opinion of the supreme court reviewed the 1929 act of the legislature, which gave new powers to the railroad commission, calling it a "general public utilities commission vested with vast powers affecting public welfare of the entire state."

The court said: "We must not close our eyes to the fact that back of and underlying this immediate question is the ultimate and basic question whether 'public convenience and necessity' mentioned in the act could reasonably be construed to require or justify scrapping or serious crippling of railroads of the state where they are already rendering adequate service...."

ALLEGED CON MAN HELD FOR ATLANTA

Ed Ellis, Arrested in Ohio, To Be Returned
Here for Trial.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The suspected engineer of a $90,000 race wire swindle at Canton, Ohio, Ed Ellis, alias Joe Hall, 42, was held here tonight for removal to Atlanta, Ga., to face an indictment charging use of the mails to defraud.

Removal was ordered by Federal Judge Samuel H. West. Ellis pleaded not guilty when arraigned before United States Commissioner W. J. Laub at Akron today and his bond was fixed at $50,000. He was arrested by postoffice inspectors last night at his rented home in a fashionable residential district of Akron.

Herbert N. Graham, one of the inspectors, said Ellis and several associates have made Akron their headquarters for the last five years and during that time had obtained probably $250,000 from their victims.

Victims were persuaded, Graham said, by a series of lectures, given by H. E. Yarnum, called "William, S. T. Adams and Ira Hooten, of Fayetteville, riding with him, were slightly injured. Case of reckless driving made against Tillman, Adams and Hooten arrested on charge of drunkenness.

LINGLE SUSPECT CONFESSES, RUMOR

Chicago Newspapers Hear That Gangster Held Has Admitted Killing.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Though no direct comment was forthcoming from those in charge of the investigation, a report that Jake Lingle confessed to the slaying of Jake Lingle persisted in newspaper circles tonight.

The Herald and Examiner said that the report had emanated from the headquarters of the board of strategy, where reporters were summoned last night to view the killing, including the State's Attorney John A. Swanson was quoted by the paper as saying he was "only on the side line" of the investigation and was not prepared to affirm or deny anything in regard to a confession "at this time."

At least four other men are sought in connection with the killing, including Simon Gorman and James "Red" Forsythe, alias Fawcett, labor racketeers.

Nor was "the woman in the case" lacking. Roche has admitted his desire to talk with Margaret Clark, known also as Margaret Walsh, Brothers' reputed sweethearts. A picture of the Clark girl and Brothers brought here by a St. Louis detective seeking the gunman for the killing of John D. Blair, car driver, gave the Chicago police their first view of Brothers. Roche, struck by his resemblance to descriptions of the Lingle slayer, took up Brothers' pursuit.

The Clark woman was arrested in St. Louis today.

Tonight as the public wondered what motive lay behind the slaying, it was indicated by Charles F. Ratburn, a special assistant state attorney, who has handled legal aspects of the inquiry, that the motive is still unknown. However, must be kept secret, he said tonight, together with the names of accomplices and the nature of the information that led to Brothers' arrest.

An immediate trial will be asked, he asserted, but advanced his expectation that the prisoner's counsel would demand a delay of 30 to 60 days to permit them to prepare their case as permitted by law.

Banker Asserts He Sank $5,000,000 In Herald-Post, Louisville Paper

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 8.—(AP)—James B. Brown, former president of the Bank of Kentucky Company, who has filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy, said at the first hearing of his creditors today he had tentatively planned a merger of the Bank of Kentucky Company and the Transamerica Company of New York, a financial investment trust, a week before the National Bank of Kentucky and the Louisville Trust Company closed.

Mr. Brown charged that "some influence hostile to the National Bank of Kentucky was responsible for the meeting of the Clearing House Association that ended in closing the bank and frustrating the transaction."

"As to why the National Bank of Kentucky and the Louisville Trust Company were closed," Mr. Brown said, "That is beyond my conception and so far I have been unable to find out who was responsible for calling the first meeting in reference to closing the banks. Two days before the closing I knew there was some influence operating against the banks."

HEARING ON INCOME TAX HIKE TUESDAY

Three New Revenue Raising Bills Introduced; Department Finance Figures Demanded.

BY R. E. POWELL.

Determined to eliminate partisanship from its deliberations, in response to a plea made by Speaker Richard B. Russell, Jr., who occupies the position of governor-elect of Georgia at the same time, the special session of the Georgia legislature Thursday received three new revenue raising measures and fixed 2 o'clock this afternoon for a hearing before the house ways and means committee on Representative Harvey Kennedy's bill to tax public utilities.

While the house, in a short session, was receiving four new bills, all designed to deal with the state's $6,200,000 deficit, Senator Shelby Myrick was introducing into the senate the executive budget bill recommended by expert surveys and urged upon the legislature by Governor Hardman as a means of preventing a recurrence of the financial dilemma now confronting the state.

The house rejected by the vote of 105 to 4 the motion of Representative Moody, of Troup county, to adjourn sine die.

Russell's Appeal.

Speaker Russell's appeal to bury the political hatchet so that the lawmakers may turn serious attention to the problems they have been summoned to work out was a ringing declaration of his own purpose to preside over the house fairly and impartially and at the same time, as the representative from Barrow county, to exercise a member's prerogative of supporting or opposing from the floor such legislation as appeared to his individual conviction.

"Every member of this legislature," the speaker said, "has a duty to discharge in regard to the proclamation which called this body together. I have not the slightest doubt that every member will vote his honest convictions on every measure before this house."

"As speaker of this house, I have no views on legislation whatever, but I recognize a duty and it is my purpose to preside fairly and impartially. As a representative from Barrow county the chair, though, is entitled to his views on all matters coming before the house."

To Work for State.

"I would dislike very much, for I know it would be injurious, for legislation here to be developed along partisan lines or for this special session to degenerate into bitterness. We are assembled here to work for the state of Georgia and the chair earnestly hopes that the proceedings will be

DRIVE IS PLANNED TO CUT FIRE LOSS

Atlanta's 348 firemen will begin at once a comprehensive survey of all premises with a view of reducing fire hazards, it was announced by Chief John Terrell following a conference with Mayor James L. Key.

Every fireman will be assigned certain territory in the drive to curb fire losses and protect lives, Chief Terrell said.

In commenting on the drive, Mayor Key declared it not only would reduce the fire hazards, but also would familiarize firemen with the various localities in which they are to fight fires in the event of a conflagration.

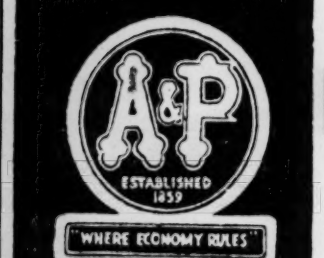

"I can think of no better means of reducing fires than to have the firemen, those who will fight the flames in the event there is one, to visit homes, business houses, etc., inspect the property themselves and then suggest corrections of any fire hazards," Mr. Key declared. "Atlanta is losing too much property from fires and too many lives are being endangered."

Rev. High Moor Considers Pittsburgh Cathedral Call

DR. EDWIN M. POTEAT.

REV. N. R. HIGH MOOR.

While officials of the Second Baptist church Thursday announced acceptance of the retirement of the Rev. Dr. N. R. High Moor, rector of that denomination, influential members of St. Luke's Episcopal church discounted reports that the Rev. Dr. N. R. High Moor, rector of Trinity cathedral, Pittsburgh, declaring that Dr. Moor merely had "under advisement" the offer from the eastern church.

A meeting of intimate friends of Dr. Moor, held Thursday afternoon at St. Luke's, it was said, merely discussed the matter of persuading the popular rector to remain in the local pulpit, and came to the conclusion that opportunities equal if not surpassing those of the larger church would be available for Dr. Moor.

Bishop H. J. Mikell, head of the Atlanta diocese, president and tenor of the gathering was that Dr. Moor could be prevailed upon to remain at the local pastorate.

Bishop Mikell Thursday night asserted that, although Dr. Moor had gone to Pittsburgh to confer with officials of Trinity cathedral in connection with the call, he had made no decision, and would make none until after his return to Atlanta. A conference between the rector and vestrymen then will be held, the bishop said, and at that time something definite may be known about the status of the pulpit. Until then, Bishop Mikell said, nothing more can be said.

In announcing the retirement of Dr. Moor, deacons of the Second Baptist church, it was known that the church had been given only after the minister had urgently requested success from his ministerial duties, due to his advanced age and his conviction that 50 years in the pulpit constituted sufficient service. Dr. Poteat, it was said, may consider teaching philosophy and ethics as an avocation following his retirement.

In retiring from the ministry, Dr. Poteat terminates half a century of active service in the pulpit, and at the same time, he is celebrating the seventieth year of his life. He will continue to serve the Second church.

GRADY CONDITION STYLED 'DISGRACE'

Atlanta's city hospital system, considering its inadequacy, dilapidated buildings, lack of equipment and insufficient funds, is doing good work, but its present physical condition is a disgrace to the city and Fulton county, due in a measure to petty politics on the part of members of the medical profession, Dr. T. C. Davidson, new president of the Fulton County Medical Society, declared Thursday night at the society's annual banquet at the Ritz-Carlton hotel.

"We can never sell the idea of a bond issue for a 'Greater Grady hospital' to the public until we show a united front," Dr. Davidson said. "I am convinced that if the profession had unanimously supported the movement, we would even now have a new, commodious and well equipped hospital so badly needed for our sick poor. We should have an adequate hospital system supported equally by both our city and county governments and all departments under one head."

Dr. Davidson said that other new officers were installed as follows: Dr. Dan Y. Sage, president-elect; Dr. W. A. Smith, vice president; Dr. J. C. Hailley, re-elected secretary and treasurer; Dr. George W. Fuller, member of the board of directors, and Dr. W. Frank Wells, member of the board of trustees.

Dr. Davidson urged the society to dispose of the present property occupied as a home, and build a larger and permanent home in which would be adequate fireproof library facilities, a large auditorium and small rooms for group and committee meetings, as soon as funds are available. He advocated "selling" the profession to the public and stressing the importance of annual health examinations. He has discussed with Mayor Key the matter of requesting council to adopt an ordinance which would protect the public from institutions imposing on the public.

An "Amos 'n' Andy" sketch was presented by Dr. E. C. Thrash, as "Amos," Dr. E. H. Green, as "Andy," and Dr. H. H. Crawford, as "Brother Crawford."

Standing committees were announced as follows by Dr. Davidson: Library, Dr. J. C. Hailley; Finance, Dr. W. W. Young and Dr. L. M. Bonner; public health, Dr. L. G. Baggett, chairman, Dr. Z. S. Cowan and Dr. O. Fanning; with Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, and Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, state health commissioner, as advisors; public policy and legislation, Dr. J. T. Floyd, chairman; Dr. R. G. Stephens and Dr. E. S. Byrd; publicity, Dr. G. W. Quillian, chairman, Dr. B. T. Beasley and Dr. L. C. Roulin; medical education, Dr. Dan S. Elkin, chairman, Dr. T. ## WELSH COAL STRIKE SETTLEMENT IS SEEN

Cotton, Shoe Industry Disputes Seemingly Defy Solution.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Prospects seemed favorable tonight for settlement of the South Wales coal mine dispute at a meeting of miners and mine owners in Cardiff tomorrow, but unpleasant situations in the cotton and shoe industries did not look so promising.

The textile impasse, which already has sent 5,000 men out on a strike in the Burnley district, seemed slowly drifting from bad to worse. The textile trade federation of the northern counties met at Blackburn today and decided to support the strikers.

This caused fears that the strike might spread throughout the industry, involving 25,000 more men.

But there was to be a meeting of the Burnley mill owners on Saturday from which important developments are expected. This dispute involves the weavers' refusal to accede to the employers' demand that each weaver now operating four looms take over eight at a substantial increase in pay. The weavers refuse on the ground it would throw several out of work.

The general outlook was clouded still further today by a serious dispute over wages and working hours in the boot and shoe industry which employs 120,000 workers. The workers want the minimum wage raised from $14 to $15 and the mill owners, citing the current depression, want to decrease the minimum to $13.

JACOBS TO RETURN TO FIRST STORE SITE

New Location at Five Points Will Open on Saturday.

Returning to its original site in Atlanta, Jacobs Pharmacy's new Five Points store in the remodeled First National Bank building at Peachtree and Marietta streets will be formally opened Saturday.

For nearly half a century Jacobs Pharmacy has maintained headquarters at Five Points, the hub of Atlanta. For the past 15 months only, during the remodeling of the First National Bank building there, has Jacobs Pharmacy been away.

Dr. Joseph Jacobs, the founder of Jacobs Pharmacy Company, came to Atlanta from Athens, Ga., in 1854 and established the business on the site where the new store and headquarters will be located.

Dr. Jacobs had been operating a drug store in Athens before coming to Atlanta. He started in business there in 1879, the name of the establishment being Athens Pharmaceutical Company. It was considered the largest in northeast Georgia.

On coming to Atlanta Dr. Jacobs bought the store of Dr. James A. Taylor, in what was then known as the Norcross building, a three-story structure. Years later the building burned. It was replaced with a five-story building and Jacobs Pharmacy remained there. About 1900 the location was moved to 6-8-10-12 Marietta street, still at Five Points, and remained there until the present improvement of the site was started.

During this time the company has been a sound and phenomenal growth. The organization now includes 16 stores, is progressive in every way and ranks as one of the leading commercial enterprises in the city of Atlanta.

At the death of Dr. Jacobs a short time ago, Sinclair Jacobs, his son, became president of the company and directs its operation. William J. Rich is vice president and treasurer of the organization.

The new store will be modern in every respect, designed to meet every demand of the public. It has four entrances and is located on two floors. On the ground floor are a large soda fountain and lunch counter, medicine counters, rubber goods, drugs and sundries division, candy and cigar departments. Below will be another fountain with table luncheon service, prescription department, elastics and sick room supplies.

The opening of the store will be marked by appropriate ceremonies, it is announced by Dr. Jacobs, and appropriate souvenirs will be given to customers on the opening day.

Galli-Curci Sees End of Opera In Present Form

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 8.—(AP)—A radical veteran of the New York Metropolitan, Annetta Galli-Curci, cannot see any future for the opera as it has existed during the last century.

"But," she said, while here for a recital, "the radio cannot revive it. The talkies offer no panacea. It has been tried and failed."

Public tastes have changed. Everything has changed. Jazz has come along. Opera is in the throes of extinction for good music and light entertainment. "Aida" to a happy medium between the old and new schools. And old opera, as she sees it, is "covered" by Wagner.

"God music will always exert its appeal. So the opera must be an inevitable substitute for the opera. It possesses the vital element of good music plus the quick tempo and lighter plot demanded by the new generation."

Radio and talking pictures will kindle rather than quench public appreciation for good music, Mrs. Galli-Curci believes. Folk in crossroad villages, she said, are learning to appreciate the classical through listening to programs broadcast over national chains and offered in talkie shorts at the neighborhood theaters.

The singer definitely has forsaken the operatic stage for concert work because, as she put it, "concerts offer more latitude in selection of programs, and are easier on the voice."

CITY FINANCE PAPER NEARS COMPLETION

Committee Expects To Conclude January Guide at Meeting Tonight.

Completion of the January finance guide for municipal expenditures for 1931 will be completed tonight, if plans of the finance committee of council are carried out, it was announced Thursday by Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, chairman.

A dead line was set for noon today for hearing from the public on any matter which should be brought to the attention of the committee. The afternoon and tonight's session will be given over to arrangement of the allocations in executive sessions of the committee.

In commenting on the requests, B. Graham West, city comptroller, declared that departments and the public have been extremely sympathetic in their demands, and stated that this would simplify the work of the committee in marked degree.

Among requests filed with the committee Thursday was a blanket budget by Madison Bell, prominent attorney, representing the Sixty-ninth Street Apartment Association, and property owners on Luckie and Williams streets, Techwood drive and Courtland street, seeking funds to complete widening, repaving and reconditioning these thoroughfares. Mr. Bell also urged an underpass for the railway tracks at North avenue.

Alderman Murphy declared schools would be taken care of as far as is possible under the financial stress under which the government is laboring. They have asked for $3,722,314, approximately $300,000 more than the total expended for school purposes last year.

The Atlanta parks department asked improvements totaling $110,000 in addition to funds for pay rolls and general upkeep.

Dr. John P. Kennedy, city health officer, asked the finance committee to appropriate $240 monthly to obtain the services of a milk expert in order to relieve the condition brought about through lack of proper inspection, about which the Fulton County Medical Society made criticism recently. Many other requests for smaller amounts also were made.

ARREST MAY SOLVE MANY BURGLARIES

Confronted with a notebook in which he is alleged to have listed and itemized the results of at least 18 burglaries, W. P. Shannon, Jr., 25, of 1005 North avenue, is said to have confessed Thursday to having engaged in the art of lock picking for some time, according to detectives L. E. Cady and L. D. Simmons, who began unraveling his past shortly after he was arrested Thursday morning tampering with the lock of a filling station at 104 Georgia avenue.

Shannon was arrested and his hearing set for Thursday afternoon, but the officers found the notebook and the hearing was postponed until 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning. The detectives asserted Thursday night that Shannon has admitted that, armed only with a pair of pliers and a screwdriver, he had carried out all of the burglaries noted in his memorandum book. It seems that the highest loot taken at any one place was $25.

The officers further disclosed that Shannon has served three years in the Campbell county chain gang for auto theft.

RENEWED PURCHASING SEEN IN NEAR FUTURE

Credit Men Director Expects Early Increase in Buying by Consumers.

Forced buying to fill accumulated consumer needs, coupled with the fact that thousands of consumers have liquidated installment obligations and should shortly be in a position to resume normal purchasing, were offered as the two most cheerful features of the outlook for 1931 in an address by Walter C. Foster, director of the adjustment bureau's department of the National Association of Credit Men, before the Atlanta Association of Credit Men at the Atlanta Athletic Club Thursday night.

"The psychology of depression has served to make everyone more conservative," Foster said. "Even the great majority of the people who have kept their jobs with no reduction in earnings have undoubtedly curtailed their spending. I believe, however, that this so-called 'buyers' strike' has about run its course, so far as people who retain their employment are concerned."

"The buying power of the American people has shrunk greatly, due to unemployment and low prices of farm products, but there is still a vast field for business based on present earnings. We are still a great and rich people, accustomed to a high standard of living."

Woman Steals Baby To Win Back Husband's Love

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(AP)—A childless wife tonight sobbed out to the Brooklyn police the story of how she had stolen an infant and palmed it off on her husband as their own.

Mrs. Angelina Schiron, 29, a bride at 16, detectives said, was found with the 6-week old baby girl of Mrs. Loreta Rotundo, abducted yesterday, hiding with the child in the home of a friend. A city-wide search had been going on since the Rotundo baby vanished.

"I took the baby," detectives said. "The woman confessed under questioning. 'I had to have her. She meant everything to me. I love babies but all three of mine died.'"

"My husband loves babies too. When it seemed that I couldn't have any he grew indifferent toward me, and I felt that if I could get one somewhere and show it to him, I could win back his love."

"Sound social policy will not tolerate subsidies for the railroad," he said. "It ought to bring about forthwith abolition of similar subsidized and unfair advantages to competitors by highway and improved water courses. Suitable taxes for the use of rights of way paid for by public exchequer should be imposed. Bus and truck lines should be legally held to account as common carriers. Their service as to safety, speed, public convenience and even, perhaps, hours of service by employees should be standardized by law."

Discussion of the chain store movement featured the afternoon sessions. Speakers included R. W. Lyons, of the National Chain Store Association; Mrs. Florence Kelley, of the National Consumers' League; Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, chairman of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement, and Freeman Tilden, writer.

Tom Mix's Honesty Questioned at Trial

NATCHEZ, Miss., Jan. 8.—(AP)—The claim that Tom Mix, the cowboy motion picture actor, was charged with stealing a 20-year-old horse named "Bologna" before he entered the movies was made by counsel for Colonel Zach T. Miller, owner of the 101 Ranch shows, during trial here today of a $50,000 breach of contract suit brought by the showman against the actor.

Colonel Miller contended he suffered a loss of $50,000 in gate receipts and damage to his reputation by being unable to put on the advertised act.

Telegrams purporting to have passed between the showman and the actor were introduced in which Mix said he would consider a salary of $10,000 weekly but would require a private railroad car sufficient to accommodate two horses, a Rolls-Royce automobile and an entourage of seven people.

Sitting in the courtroom in do-skin riding habit with high-heeled patent leather shoes and the diamond-studded monogram belt, Mix smiled broadly when he was quoted as saying in a telegram: "I am not afraid of work, but I must have my comforts."

MACON JURY GIVEN BELL MURDER CASE

Tourist Camp Operator, on Stand, Tells of Fatal Shooting.

MACON, Ga., Jan. 8.—(P)—The case of W. F. Bell, charged with the murder of R. B. Hendon, went to a jury in the federal court at 8:35 o'clock Thursday night.

After several hours' deliberation, the jury retired for the night, to resume consideration of the case early Friday.

The defense rested Thursday afternoon and lawyers on both sides were allowed two hours each, for their arguments.

Solicitor Charles H. Garrett opened for the state. A. A. McCellan followed for the defense and Mr. Garrett presented the final argument for the state.

The feature of Thursday's testimony was the unsworn statement by Bell on the witness stand.

In general, Bell made the same statement of the incident that he made to Judge Hugh Chambers here at the committal hearing on Friday, August 8. He said he fired the fatal shot as Hendon had a "large black looking pistol" leveled on him, and after the man came out of the car, he "ran the automobile over my wife and me."

"I've been robbed," Bell quoted his wife as having said. "They're coming around the curve now," referring to Hendon's car that was approaching. Bell said he told a negro porter to "run the automobile over my wife and me."

"I regret very much having to shoot the man. Please place yourself in my predicament, before you make up your mind. It's very regrettable, but I couldn't have done anything else."

Shortly before the noon recess, Solicitor Charles H. Garrett placed on the stand two witnesses who said they were eye-witnesses to the shooting. They had not testified before in the case, and were not known to the general public.

McCaskill indicated the arraignment would take place shortly.

FACED EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGES IN ALBANY

ALBANY, Ga., Jan. 8.—(P)—R. E. L. Spence, Jr., former solicitor of the Albany county court, held at Miami, Fla., on a forged charge, entered pleas of guilty to five indictments charging embezzlement at the fall term of Dougherty superior court here.

At that time Judge B. C. Gardner deferred sentence and permitted Spence to return to Miami for business matters. He was to appear at the March term of superior court for sentencing.

Spence disappeared from Albany in December, 1929. He was arrested in Miami by agents of the United States marshal at Laredo, Texas, where he surrendered to officers, who were told he was wanted here. No charges were pending against him then and he was released.

After Spence pleaded guilty to five of the indictments, the other charges were continued subject to being nolle prossed.

191,928 More Customers Than in 1929

This Store Is Growing!

Some people have been grumbling about business in 1930. We find nothing to grumble about, except that we had to work harder. Our business has grown during 1930 and we have made new friends, new customers, and more business at a gratifying rate.

Statistics are usually tiresome---these are interesting. Read them:

During 1930, we made 191,928 more sales than we did in the previous year.

This is 3,690 each week, or 615 increase each day

- *Monday, December 22, 1930, was the biggest day's business the store ever had.
- *Our Christmas business at the end of 1930 was the biggest we have ever had.

*The entire Fall Season was the biggest in the store's history.

5,500 New Charge Accounts Were Opened During 1930.

The number of packages delivered increased 56,104—almost 13 per cent.

While you were coming to Davison's in increasing numbers, we were doing our share to help Atlanta grow.

During 1930, we paid out more than $2,000,000 for salaries of employees, current local expenses, and merchandise produced in Georgia

During 1930, we employed the largest number of employees in our history.

And in contrast with the rather general practice of reducing salaries during that year, no salaries were reduced at Davison's.

We believe that much of our increased business is due to this store's unvarying policy of maintaining high quality in all its merchandise, and selling it at prices that cannot be undersold and frequently are lower than elsewhere---particularly when we share in big purchases with Macy's, New York. We assure you that in 1931---as in past years---

HUGHES ON STATE RIGHTS.

The suggestion of surprise that Chief Justice Hughes should be found on the side of a divided supreme court that upholds the right of New Jersey to fix the commissions payable to agents for underwriting insurance in that state is rather strange in the light of his past attitudes when a justice of that court.

The decision upholds a reserved state right in a matter of internal police—the regulation of a business only permissible to be pursued among its citizens by tolerance or license of the state. The fixing of commissions to insurance agents can scarcely be differentiated from any other regulation in the nature of usury limitations, or notary fees,
or fees for the registration of automobiles.

There is nothing new or exciting
in a concurrence by Chief Justice Hughes in a decision upholding state rights. It was he who, 15 years ago, said:

"If we did not have states, we should speedily create them. We now have them, with the advantages of historic background, and in mastering the serious questions of local administration we at least have the advantage of ineradicable sentiment and cherished traditions. And we may well congratulate ourselves that the circumstances of the formation of a more perfect Union have given us neither a confederation of states nor a single centralized government, but a nation—and yet a Union of States, each autonomous in its local concerns."

That is good original American doctrine and there is no record that Chief Justice Hughes, in any of his public capacities has ever departed from it. So why wonder that he adheres to it as the head of the highest court in the nation?

TEMPTING THE VETERANS.

A serious division of sentiment has appeared among World War veterans respecting the proposal to immediately cash their government bonus certificates, normally due in 1945. Consequently the prospect that congress will so enact has quickly fallen to low visibility.

The proposal was a part of the hysterical whoopee set up during the congressional campaign of last fall in which candidates vied with each other in advocating ways and means to distribute the national treasury to farmers, veterans and the jobless generally.

Doubtless many veterans have been hit more or less severely by business slowness and unemployment, but the suggestion that something like $4,000,000,000 should be at once paid over to 3,250,000
veterans "to relieve them from starvation and death" was too huge a pill for the veterans themselves to swallow. The more sensible and prudent of their leaders repudiate that picture indignantly.

Instead, a fair proposition to enlarge and facilitate the loan privileges carried by the bonus certificates is declared desirable and will,
in all likelihood, be enacted shortly after congress reconvenes. General Hines says the veterans' administration will have $425,000,000 available for such loans in 1931 and there is more than $700,000,000
now in the sinking fund to redeem
the certificates that can be used to advance payments upon them, should congress so enact.

With this $1,125,000,000 available to the really needy veterans there should be relief enough for them without misleading them into cashing and spending government obligations that may be of great value to them as they grow older.

With 14,000,000 radio sets in use in this country our atmosphere cannot complain of unemployment.

The vodka stage is now fairly divided between nudism and slum dudes.

Senator Brookhart has enough projects on his mind to occupy

several extra sessions of congress and several thousand pages of the Congressional Record. No wonder Iowa has trouble to hold her population.

THE RADIO UNIVERSITY.

The Constitution's broadcast of its news service will receive a hearty appreciative welcome from the radio patronizing public.

Millions of the national, state and local radio audiences will be eager nightly to catch the head-notes of the news that is instantly flashing through the air of the globe. The highlights of human and natural transactions will be obtained before the sand-man gets on his job and the listeners-in will go to sleep better satisfied that all's well or all's wrong with the world—as their psychic equation may adjust itself to what they hear from The Constitution's adept announcer.

The radio is becoming more an essential of public information and instruction. A wider demand is daily growing among the people for "real stuff" and less chaff. This last year the N. B. C. system was used by 328 offices of the United States government, occupying 450 hours of time in making 850 addresses to the radio audiences of the nation, all of them upon live subjects of public information and instruction.

It was said of old that a public library is the "people's university."
Today that title is being rapidly

DEFENSE SERVICE PAY.

There are measures to readjust
the pay schedules for the army, navy, marine corps, coast guard and public health services. These bills of various incidences have been hanging fire in the committees of congress for many sessions, and are yet being muddled over in that dilatory fashion so characteristic of in-congressmen who can always regulate their own pay and make sure that they get it on the nail.

Since the drastic economic deflations of 1921 it has been evident to all specially informed persons and painfully so to the service arms of the nation, that the pay of their officers and men has been sadly below
the average of what has been found necessary and just in other departments of the national life.

From all industries and lines of personal service have arisen demands for an equalization of salaries and wages with increasing costs of living. Even now the cry covers the land that employment and wages must be maintained upon high American levels. The cry is economically just and is being generally heeded.

But for the defensive service men of the nation there comes from congress no answer to the appeal for equal and necessary treatment, in the department of pay. Men of high capacities and value are being forced out of the services to find living compensation in private life. That condition is a dangerous one and congress should promptly remedy it.

OUST ALIEN CRIMINALS.

The new secretary of labor asks authority and means from congress to promptly deport aliens in this country who have been convicted of crimes. He says that a low estimate of aliens illegally in the United States is 400,000, one-fourth of whom are clearly deportable under the law, and President Hoover holds that the fact of their illegally smuggling themselves among us is prima facie proof of their undesirable characters.

In the present national emergency, when the people are providing hundreds of millions of money to provide labor, food and life support for our native and lawfully naturalized citizens, the day is certainly ripe for rounding up the criminal and parasite aliens and sending them back whence they came. It is cheaper and safer to ship them out than to keep them on our pay rolls and charity rosters.
Evidently we have more people in this country than we are presently able to keep busy in self-support and comfort. It is our duty to look well to the lives, health and employment of our own people. It is none of our duty to become the world's Red Cross nation to harbor and comfort the refugee criminals and refuge paupers of other nations.

One of the sanest relief measures
the congress can enact is a plenary authority to the secretary of labor to round up the criminal element of the aliens and rid the police, the courts and the prisons of them as quickly as possible.

Lloyd George says "the dole" is the best unemployment relief for England, but it is one of those English things this people will be in no hurry to adopt.

Forty-four legislatures will be in session before this month ends.
That ought to ease the unemployment situation some.

A secession in Paris says France will lose two of her statesmen by death during the year. She loses a lot more than that every year by the mortality of her cabinets.

A Latin-American revolution arises out of curiosity to see how much worse the new government will be.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Agitated Italy.

Anti-fascist propaganda by means of the old-fashioned "chain letter" is said to be causing some anxiety to Signor Mussolini and the Italian government, the London Evening Reports.
Apparently the letters have originated from a political group known as the National Alliance of Liberty, working from the industrial cities in the north of Italy, and the fascist administration has been unable to ascertain precisely how wide a field the propaganda has covered.

Each letter of the series has carried, in the manner of the familiar
"chain letter" type, a request for a contribution of five cents. The letters are said to be sent to six persons who will make other copies. This you will have gathered today to bring about the second Italian risorgimento (resurrection or revival).

The Italian police have received drastic orders to suppress all such chain letters, and persons in whose possession the letters are found are liable to prosecution. It is obvious, however, that the chain letter method
has suppression out of the question.
Apparently the government can only suppress the propaganda and stamp
them out or undertake the costly task of examining all matter sent through the post.

Italy has received copies of the same letter from three or more anonymous correspondents in as many cities of Italy.

The series of communications began last June, and has been continued at regular intervals ever since. The National Alliance of Liberty was described in the first letter as an organization embracing men of all non-conformist parties, including the socialists.

It was said of old that a public
library is the "people's university."
Today that title is being rapidly

Earth's Age.

The maximum possible age for the earth has been set at 2,000,000,000 years by a Harvard University scientist, who has estimated the age of the earth by the study of the decay of radioactive elements.

Professor Kirtley L. Mather, who based his calculations upon analysis and study of lava flows and volcanic rocks in Quebec and Ontario, declared that Harvard scientists, working in the field of radioactive research, had reached approximately the same conclusion regarding the age of the earth as Professor Kovarik of Yale, who had estimated 1,852,- 000,000 years, but that further study of the Canadian lava flows, which he had examined, had convinced him of the veracity of the greater age estimate.

Professor Mather added that research into the age of the earth has been under way at Harvard for a number of years, and concurred with Professor Kovarik in declaring that the scientific knowledge of the nature of present were "far from final" and might be subject to modification at any time. Modification, he declared, would, however, in all probability be toward an increase rather than a diminution of the earth's age.

We are getting farther and farther away from Mr. Bryan's "old earth," reckoned from "the beginning."

Health Talks.

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

MORE HUMOR ON CATCHING COLD.

We regular doctors desire no personal publicity, you understand, but we're rather keen on it nowadays for medical science. Accordingly you hear us sounding off regularly on the radio,
in the name of the medical society,
and you read our stuff regularly in the papers, also by authority of our officially issued press releases. Some of our stuff is dry, and some of it is humorous. Here is a blurb printed in the newspapers under the auspices of the New York Medical Society, telling folks "How To Catch Cold."

The funny part, where you don't laugh if you're a dumb one, is that we academy members admit we know little or nothing about the nature of the cause of "colds," in one breath, and then in the next breath we warn you dumb laymen that a "cold" will probably kill you if you go on with it. You galsoshes on. In our publicity we are scientists and old women too. We have to cater to all tastes, you see.

Alas, in the summer of 1929, when the epochal announcement that the great "common cold" expedition which set out from Johns Hopkins a year ago has discovered the cause of the "common cold"—somebody's cause is discovered annually—and the bulletins from the commander say it is a virus too minute to be visible through the highest-power microscope.
This is funny, too, when we remember that no one any longer carries on identified the "common cold." I mean no physician, health authority or scientific standing has ventured to define any disease under a microscope.
I am reasonably certain that the Johns Hopkins people who do not commit themselves so far, either.

You see, the doctors who are making a living out of the popular
"cold" delusion prefer to let it remain as it is, vague, indefinite, adaptable to any purpose or predicament one has to meet.

In every-day practice even the intelligent patient is content to drift along, a tentative diagnosis of a "cold," while the doctor is wondering what ails him. And when the actual nature of the illness becomes manifest,
the patient really believes the "cold"
has developed into whatever it may prove to be.

The scientific research workers have a much wider field for their activities
as long as there are many different conceptions of the entity of "common cold." It would narrow their opportunities considerably if medical or health authorities were to agree on a definition of the alleged "common cold."

Then, too, as long as the thing remains obscure all the wise ones who are sure you catch cold from drafts, dampness and the like can carry on their arguments without fear of successful contradiction.

BRYAN INAUGURATED NEBRASKA GOVERNOR

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 8.—(P)—Charles W. Bryan, democratic nominee for vice president in 1924 and brother of the late William Jennings Bryan, became Nebraska's twenty-fourth governor today and the only chief executive of the state to return to that office by popular vote after having been removed from office by the voters in 1925. Tax reduction and economy were advocated in his message to the state legislature.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL.

The Wonderful Story of a Georgia Missionary in Pagan China.

When a man has lived out his three-score-years-and-ten and his beneficent service to his God and his fellow-men, an accurate and just record of his life and labors should be made.

It should have helped instruction and healthy inspiration for others in the path of duty. It should have helped to bring about the fulfillment of similar objectives and experiences.

Such a man's biography, however, need not be a dry, uninspired record of his life and labors as a spirit saturated with the inspiration of his convictions of devotion to eternal verities, and with a similar enthusiasm for service or sacrifice.

A Story of Worth and Weight.

After reading "Young J. Allen:
The Man Who Seeded China," a biography by Bishop Candler, of the Diocese of the West, a reader of this city, these thoughts recur to me
more strongly than ever.

Here is a sympathetic story of the career of a Georgia preacher, the Christian Gospel was given him without other than spiritual urge to the divine mission of immersing the heathen in the Christian faith. In the vast realm of heathen China.

With a stern yet pathetic abjuration of financial ease, opulent opportunities, and the secular world, he qualifications to compel place, power and fame, he deliberately consecrated himself to a missionary martyrdom second only to that of St. Paul himself.

A Sower Went Forth to Sow.

Bishop Candler, with that remarkable power to fathom motives and identify inspirations which is his peculiarly, makes vivid the unique proprietor for our mission in the Diocese of the West, a reader of this
city, these thoughts recur to me
more strongly than ever.

Young Allen remained in China 47
years and died with his Christian
harness on, and his heart in the service of the Chinese people. He was a statesman to the intellectuals of China, learned their language, enriched their literature, and to his communal work and his Christian faith.

SENATORS FEAR DRY LAW REPORT

The danger of an extra session growing out of the situation is apparent. Congress adjourns by constitutional limitation on March 4, less than two months hence. By virtue of the prolonged consideration given the subject of prohibition enforcement and the public interest manifested in the proceedings of the commission, which has conducted all of its hearings in executive session, combined with the fact that the report is not yet completed, the report ordinarily would be sufficient to engage the senate
in debate for weeks alone.

It is not surprising, therefore, it is simply a matter of whether it is permitted to have full discussion. On this the special committee has no voice. The prohibition issue, the report ordinarily would be sufficient to engage the senate
in debate for weeks alone.

In marked contrast with the general feeling which prevailed a few months back, it is now the consensus of Washington opinion that the commission report is not yet complete. It is a matter of fact that the report is not yet complete. It is a matter of fact that the report is not yet complete. It is a matter of fact that the report is not yet complete.

Tasks Facing Senate.

During the present session the senate must pass half a dozen major appropriation bills, the failure of any one of which is all but sure to bring about an extra session. The fact of it will do well to pass them without any interference from outside legislative projects, measured by the partmental supply bills have been fi-

The house, however, has moved along to schedule and no difficulty is

HUGE TIDAL WAVE KILLS SIX PERSONS

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 8.
(P)—Six men were killed, one is missing, and three were injured in the huge tidal wave which swept the coast of New Guinea on December 24,
the administrator of that territory reported today.

The great wall of water from 25 to 50 feet high swept along the coast for 40 miles and rolled 300 yards inland, he said.

In Hollywood

BY MOLLY MERRICK

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 8.—
(NANA)—Just as the body of Art Acord, one-time cowboy idol of the screen, was being lowered into a nameless grave in potter's field at Mexico, a wire from Hiram Johnson, California senator, halted proceedings dramatically.

Irving Thalberg, Abraham Lehr and a group of other motion picture men had claimed the body for burial here.
The American consul at Juarez arranged details.

Which goes to prove that movie men aren't so thoughtless as one would seem. But they are busy, and likely to let such things slip until brought to their attention.

Speaking of movie men, the night conferences of one of the large studios famed for its burning of early morning oil, look more like western comedies these nights than executive meetings.

When the great assembly about the council table, they each and every one reached into the back pocket and pulled out the good old six-shooter. Not that arguments wax so hot about the table. These lads are carrying the guns for protection on the way home.

There has been a merry little game
of jump-on-the-running board going on. With studio police keeping a sharp eye on the suspicious characters hanging about the lot gates at night.

Since motion picture people are the chief sufferers from this type of local winter sport, they're taking no chances when they work on lots given to midnight conferences.

Swallowed Up in Service.

It is one of the fairly inexplicable things in Christian history that missionaries have been so numerous and enthusiasm of the rank and file of safe and contented Christian professors.

Even in this our own day, with so many dangers and temptations, so many Christian missions have purged many pagan nations and brought the ethics of the Eternal into the social, commercial and political life of the world.

Bishop Candler, with his experiences in Cuba alone, has an acute appreciation of that lethargy among people who was at the wheel and who graphically portray the experiences of Allen, and to applaud his heroic conquests over their inertia.

A Book To Be Studied.

Here is a book that Christian men and women should not alone find it profitable to read—they should study it and from it absorb the great and severe obligations upon them to do their duty. It is a book that should be read by all who are doing now.

Young Allen remained in China 47
years and died with his Christian
harness on, and his heart in the service of the Chinese people. He was
a statesman to the intellectuals of China, learned their language, enriched their literature, and to his
faith.

It is needless here to recapitu-late the story of his life. It is read by those who ought to know about Allen as Bishop Candler has so finely pictured and estimated him.

WIREGRAMS

BY GRAHAM WYER

Here's one to begin with: A writer was hired at Metro studio. It's a vast place where authors frequently become lost for months at a time.
There were vague rumors floating that he could not be found. The writer never was found. The newcomer was told,
"You are to take half of so-and-so's office—it's on stage three."

It must be quite a pleasant place
to find so-and-so.
"Oh, yes," said one department of which he inquired. "Oh, yes—let's see, he's here. That's right. Oh, yes, yes, yes, come to think of it he had an office on stage three. Go right over there."

The newcomer went. He finally found stage three. And found a little cubbyhole which went under the name of office. In it was a dusty desk,
a chair, a lamp, and a typewriter.
The desk was a near-by beam with dusky filament. On the desk lay an open book:

"Moss Hart and George Kaufmann didn't top that one, in 'Once in a Lifetime.'"

Chicago Jewry Free To Eat Fowl Again

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—(P)—The ban on eating poultry by Chicago's 500,000 Orthodox Jews, declared more than a week ago by the rabbinate in a fight against alleged racketeering among the schlemiel,
has been lifted after the schlemiel complied with the rabbi's demands that new officers of the organization be elected.

If Rabbits Had Enough Intelligence They Would Fear Germs as Men Do

By Robert Quillen

"Let not him that girdeh on his harness boast himself as he that putteth it off."
No one among us knows how he would react to a given set of circumstances.

It is easy, in the quiet and security of home, to say: "I would have slapped his face if he had talked to me that way!" or, "I would have slapped the ship until all the women and children were safe!" or, "I wouldn't have taken the money!" or, "I would starve before I would steal!" but that is the boasting of the inexperienced.

If you would boast of your honesty, wait until you have stood un-watched near another man's food your middle gripped with hunger, and come away empty.

The other man's cowardice in the presence of a lion may seem unmanly as you sit by your fireplace, but have you ever faced a charging lion?

The truth is that our condemnation of other people usually is prompted by our ignorance.

The most severe judge of the thief who makes off with a ham is the man who never was hungry.

A good man is not

Bank Leader Says Old Laws Prevent Economic Balance

Stephenson Claims Outworn Statutes Block Accurate Gauge of Production, Consumption.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Rome C. Stephenson, president of the American Bankers' Association, in discussing the background of business conditions, said today that outworn laws in restraint of trade had prevented comprehensive efforts to gauge production to consumption.

In an address prepared for delivery before the Chicago Association of Commerce, Mr. Stephenson, warned, however, that unless businessmen can eventually solve the unemployment issue, solutions will be attempted by a government in which businessmen will have but a small part.

The present system under which each corporation attempts to gauge its production and sales according to its own ideas irrespective of the industry as a whole, he said, leads to dissatisfaction, human suffering, political upheavals and unwise legislation and is largely due to "our laws governing restraint of trade passed 40 years ago."

Undue Advance.

"Then there was fear, as well as possible real danger that retail prices would be unduly advanced," he said, adding that "fear with science aiding invention, with checks of a thousand kinds, is there any real reason why men should not be permitted to regulate output to probable stable demand?"

The head of the bankers' association asserted that economic forces and practices outrun legal enactments which frequently are restrictive rather than constructive.

"Most of us realize that the complexities of modern business and finance have outstripped popular understanding of them. Therefore, the repeal of legislation, which was remedial but which has long since outlived its usefulness, is difficult to obtain."

He urged manufacturers and producers give immediate attention to the problem of surplus in its relation to price levels, not alone as it refers to their own business, but to the industry of which their unit is a part.

Illustrative of how joint action among concerns engaged in similar activities is all but impossible at the present time, Mr. Stephenson cited the attempts of the petroleum industry to work out a program of conservation.

"Laws and regulations impede at

Francis X. Bushman Back in Humble Role

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The outlying Kew-Forest theater on the West Side is far out of the route of the night theater crowd, but Francis X. Bushman, matinee idol of 15 years ago, had a star on his dressing room door and he is "doing the work he loves."

The Tribune quoted him today as saying he was "broke," not a penny left of the $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 he earned since he became the first star of the old Essanay studios on Argyle street here in 1914, in the pre-Hollywood era of motion pictures.

"I've seen everything there is to see and done everything at an age when I could enjoy it most," he said. "I don't need any money now and I can manage to travel less grandly."

"Efforts to stabilize industry are, nevertheless, making progress," Mr. Stephenson explained.

Look Forward.

"Already large employers of labor are arranging production so that employees can look forward to regular work and eventually when their stint is done, to a pension for their sunset years."

"Does any honest skilled worker deserve less? Should not that be a goal toward which united industry will strive?"

Launching on the farming situation, Mr. Stephenson pointed out that farm mortgage indebtedness increased in the 20-year period ending 1929 from 10 per cent of the value of the farms to 22 per cent.

"The farmers are ever to get from under this load, it will be through some plan of reduced costs by means of increased output by unit of labor and acre."

Development of power machinery in farming has served to reduce the cost of production in a few areas and has caused abandonment of farms in others. Until the system shall have become thoroughly established, hardship will be suffered by farmers."

Looking ahead to the future, Mr. Stephenson concluded that "as month succeeds month, inventories in America will be reduced, thus hastening the day when unemployment will give way to employment and in consequence dismay and pessimism will retire before hope and buoyancy of spirit. Nothing so develops sympathy and resourcefulness as fear; nothing so inhibits them as hope."

Former Atlantan and Bride Killed.

Fatally injured Wednesday when their automobile skidded into a truck near Canonsburg, Pa., Edward E. Taylor, 35, formerly well-known salesman and Shriner of Atlanta, and his bride of four days, the former Miss Jessie Anne Poor, 24, of Huntingdon, W. Va., died shortly thereafter at a Canonsburg hospital. The couple, married Saturday, were en route to their home in Pittsburgh when the tragedy occurred. The bride died within an hour, the bridegroom several hours later.

Mr. Taylor was on the sales staff of the Graton & Knight Company, manufacturers of leather belting, here for about three years, later becoming Atlanta representative for the Charles A. Shieren Belting Company, of New York. He left Atlanta about six years ago for Chicago, moving from there to Pittsburgh, where his home was located at the time of his death. He was a native of Massachusetts.

Mr. Taylor became a member of the Yarnab Shrine here in 1918. He was also a member of the Palestine Masonic lodge and the Atlanta Consistory of Scottish Rite.

SHOUSE CALLS HOOVER FAILURE AS PRESIDENT

Democratic Chairman Says Reserve Bank Avoided Panic.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 8.—(AP)—Jouett Shouse, chairman of the democratic national executive committee, in a speech delivered here tonight, called Herbert Hoover "a failure as president" and said it was quite possible "we democrats shall have to organize both houses of congress" this year.

The democratic leader called upon his party to find a successful method of dealing with commercial disturbances. He pointed to the federal reserve act in the field of finance as an example of what could be done.

"It is doubtful," Shouse said, addressing a Missouri Jackson Day banquet, "if any administration since the government was inaugurated has accomplished in two years so little in constructive accomplishment as has this administration."

Termining the present economic situation "the Hoover panic," Shouse said, "The crash would not have been so great, the disaster not so deadly and the misery not so long continued had Mr. Hoover not . . . lulled the country into a false sense of security."

Encouraged people to ignore the danger signals that are so apparent in retrospect.

DIXIE FARMERS URGED TO RAISE 'OWN LIVING'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Intelligent farm organizations, as urged today by Vice Chairman Stone, of the farm board, as the solution to one of the biggest problems confronting the south, is the raising of their own living.

A part of the job of the co-operatives, he said, was to encourage the farmer to "make his own living at home." Such a farmer, Stone said, "ten times better credit risk" than the farmer who relied upon a single crop.

The ideal program for a man who owns a farm in the south, or anywhere in the country, Stone contended, was to raise his own vegetables, have a cow, and produce his own butter, raise and kill his own meat, raise chickens and enough feed stuff to take care of his live stock.

LEGUIAS ORDERED TO PAY MILLIONS

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The national sanctions court today sentenced Augusto B. Leguia, deposed president of Peru, and his three sons, to reimburse the national treasury 25,000,000 soles (approximately $10,000,000 at normal exchange) following a month investigation of their activities during the 11 years of the Leguia regime.

At present rates of exchange the amount to be reimbursed totals approximately $7,625,000.

Two of the judges, in an additional opinion, estimated that the responsibility to the country of the four Leguia amounted to 50,000,000 soles (approximately $15,250,000).

U. S. HIGHWAY AID PROGRAM EXPANDS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Acceleration of federal-aid highway construction in 1930 was reported today by the bureau of public roads to have resulted in the largest building year in the history of the program.

The government paid to the states as its share on completed federal aid work $96,355,890, an increase of about $19,700,000 over 1929.

The increase was attributed to the response made to President Hoover's appeal that the program be enlarged and the work expedited as unemployment relief.

Bachelors and bachelorettes were seated side by side and introduced. The dinner served by the young women was prepared by their mothers and sisters.

2 KILLED, THREE SHOT IN CLEVELAND BATTLE

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Gun fights with criminals cost the lives of two men here today and three others were wounded. Patrolman James Ryan, 37, and Albert Burke, 43, an American District Telegraph operative, died in a hospital a few hours after they were shot. Patrolman John Cleary was paralyzed for life from a bullet in the spine.

Ryan and Cleary were shot last night by an ex-convict when they went to his room in a cheap West Side flat to arrest him. Police said the killer was a John W. Glasscock, alias Jack McCarthy, 37, who had served time in the Joliet (Ill.) prison for a bank robbery. He charged his way into the room and was expected to recover and will be charged with first degree murder.

DOCTOR'S DEATH LAID TO REAL ESTATE DEALER

Birmingham Man Says He Shot Dr. Godwin in Self-Defense.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 8.—(AP)—E. J. Burns, 50, real estate dealer, who police said with another man and a negro planned the trap into which Dr. W. H. Godwin, 37, was lured Tuesday night and fatally wounded, was in the Jefferson county jail tonight charged with murder.

The warrant charging Burns with murder was sworn out today by police, who said he confessed framing the telephone message which brought the physician to a vacant house in East Thomas, a suburb, on the pretext someone there was ill and needed medical attention.

Police said Burns' confession included the statement that he planned to get the physician in the house and force him to agree to disposition of $50 acres of city property in which they both were interested.

In the confession the officers said Burns admitted planning the ruse by which the physician was drawn to the house but denied that he planned to kill him. They quoted him as saying he shot in self-defense after Dr. Godwin opened fire upon entering the house.

Burns' confession was reported by the officers to have followed an all-night grilling in which he steadfastly denied any part in the plot. Early this morning he was carried to the house in which he charged had brought him a note from a "Mr. Burns" which contained a threat on his life.

INSTALLMENT XII

"Sorry," Peter murmured absently. The water front man looked up, surprised at the absence of the expected retort.

"What's the matter—are you sick or something? Can't you even tell your friends to go to hell any more?" "Oh, all right, Mr. Peter Piper presents his compliments to Mr. Frank Dwyer and politely requests him to go to hell. Now lay off me, Frank. I'm busy."

"You look it," Dwyer said sarcastically, but Peter did not hear him. Lammie, a telephone headpiece over his ears, was taking a first-run story, rapidly jotting indecipherable notes on the copy paper before him. Any one who knew Lammie could tell that it was not much of a story, by the slow rate at which his Adam's apple moved up and down to the rhythm of his gum-chewing jaws.

Peter stood watching him for a moment. Lammie's eyes looked tired and bloodshot and his face showed an unhealthy pallor. But he might look like that if he'd merely sat up all night playing poker. Was there a hint of deeper anxiety under his physical fatigue? Unconscious of Peter's scrutiny, he flung his copy pencil down with a gesture of boredom, unhooked the headpiece from his ears, and turned to the typewriter. Hell's bells, you couldn't walk up to a man and say, "Excuse me, but haven't you committed a murder lately?"

Peter came to a sudden decision and crossed the floor to Jimmy's desk. "Come out to the conference room, will you?" he asked in a low voice. "I want a word in your private ear."

"What the—?" But at the look in Peter's eyes, Jimmy's irate protest was left unfinished. "Here, Russ, take the desk, will you? Let me know if anything more comes in on that phone crash."

When the two men were alone, Peter filled his pipe with silent concentration. Jimmy waited a moment in rapidly growing impatience. "Did you haul me out here for an hour of silent meditation?" he asked. "Because if so, I've an edition to get out. If you've anything to say, make it snappy."

Peter, unmoved by this outburst, continued to puff steadily, staring at the opposite wall.

"Jimmy," he said at last, "what do you know about Lammie?"

"He's a good man."

"You mean, a good newspaper man?"

"Of course." Jimmy was obviously surprised at the suggestion that there could be any other definition of virtue. "Jimmy, I've got to ask you a question or two." Peter's voice was oddly appealing. "Don't waste time by saying it's none of my business. You know I'm not a village gossip. But I've got to know—did Lammie take any time off about a month ago?"

"Look here, Peter," Jimmy said stiffly. "I don't make it a habit to discuss the affairs of members of my staff with other members. You know that. If you want to know anything about Lammie, why don't you ask him?"

"I'm not asking you to make it a habit. It comes down to this: Have you any confidence in me, or haven't you? If you have, will answer my question. If you haven't—" Peter shrugged.

"Don't be an ass," Jimmy said shortly, and Peter knew that the words were not an insult but a tribute. "Yes, Lammie was off for four days the first of the month."

"Did he give any reason, or just ask for the time?"

"This doesn't go any further—that's understood."

Peter did not even trouble to nod his acquiescence. "Lammie was off on a monumental jag. As a matter of fact, he oughtn't to touch booze. Once he's started, he doesn't know when to stop, and he hasn't the constitution to stand it."

Luckily, he isn't a steady drinker. It just hits him once in so often. He knows he ought to lay off the stuff. It's a crime I had to take him off the police beat. He had enough excitement there to keep him straight. But he gets so fed up with sitting in the office that he can stand it only so long. Then he explodes from the pressure of being bored. It's too bad, but I don't see what I can do about it."

"This time a month ago—did you actually see him yourself when he was soused?"

"I didn't have to see him. He came back, looking as if he'd been pulled through a knot hole, and told me some silly story about being called away to a dying aunt. I had to accept his yarn, because I'd tried to put the fear of God into him. Told him the next time it happened, he'd get his notice. I didn't want to fire him, so I swallowed the aunt to save my face. Now suppose you cut loose and tell me what it's all about. You're supposed to be scratching around for a murder story, not playing private detective to the Herald staff."

"Yeah," Peter assented meekly. "I know. But the devil of it is, it is the chicken's coming to roost on the home doorstep. While Lammie was engaged in his four days' vanishing act, a man was killed in mysterious circumstances—a man who had made every effort to conceal his past life. But that past included a peculiar and valuable ring, which he'd kept. Alvin Everett saw it by accident, and Mortimer—which, by the way, is almost certainly not his real name—as good as told her that he might get bumped off for the ring some day."

Though Peter's words were studiously flippant, his face was serious. His pipe had gone out, but he continued to suck at it automatically. "Well, he did get bumped off. And the ring was gone from the place where he kept it hidden. That ring is the one thing I've got as a lead to the identity of Mortimer—and of his murderer. And the man who had that ring, until he pawned it a few days ago, is Lammie."

Jimmy sat very still. His face, drained of its usual nervous vitality, looked pinched with cold. His hand was shaking as he reached out for the buzzer on the wall.

"I'll call Lammie in. He'll have to explain," he said in a dull, lifeless voice.

"Just a minute," Peter seized Jimmy's fingers before they reached the buzzer. "Suppose he can't explain—satisfactorily. What then?"

Jimmy's eyes brooded—remembering Lammie's devotion, his loyalty. Remembering how he had been recalled to the office away from the work he loved to work he hated, rather than kill the story that broke Morton. Remembering that he would carry a limp through life because he had pulled himself out of a train wreck to bring his story to the Herald. If he had gone to the hospital at once, the infection which had lamed him might never have developed. Remembering the nine disaster when Lammie had gone down with the rescue party before the gas had cleared, slipping through the guards, disguised as a miner.

Jimmy had cursed him as a fool for that. "Didn't you have enough sense to know they expected the gas to explode again any minute?"

"Sure, I knew," Lammie had answered mildly, "but we got the story, didn't we?"

"I won't have you get Lammie into trouble," Jimmy told Peter harshly.

"He's a good man."

"I've got to work it out," Peter said sadly. "Mrs. Everett knows too much to let it drop now. And Inspector Larriman knows that Lammie had the ring. If Lammie's really mixed up in it, I started out on this story, and I've got to get it."

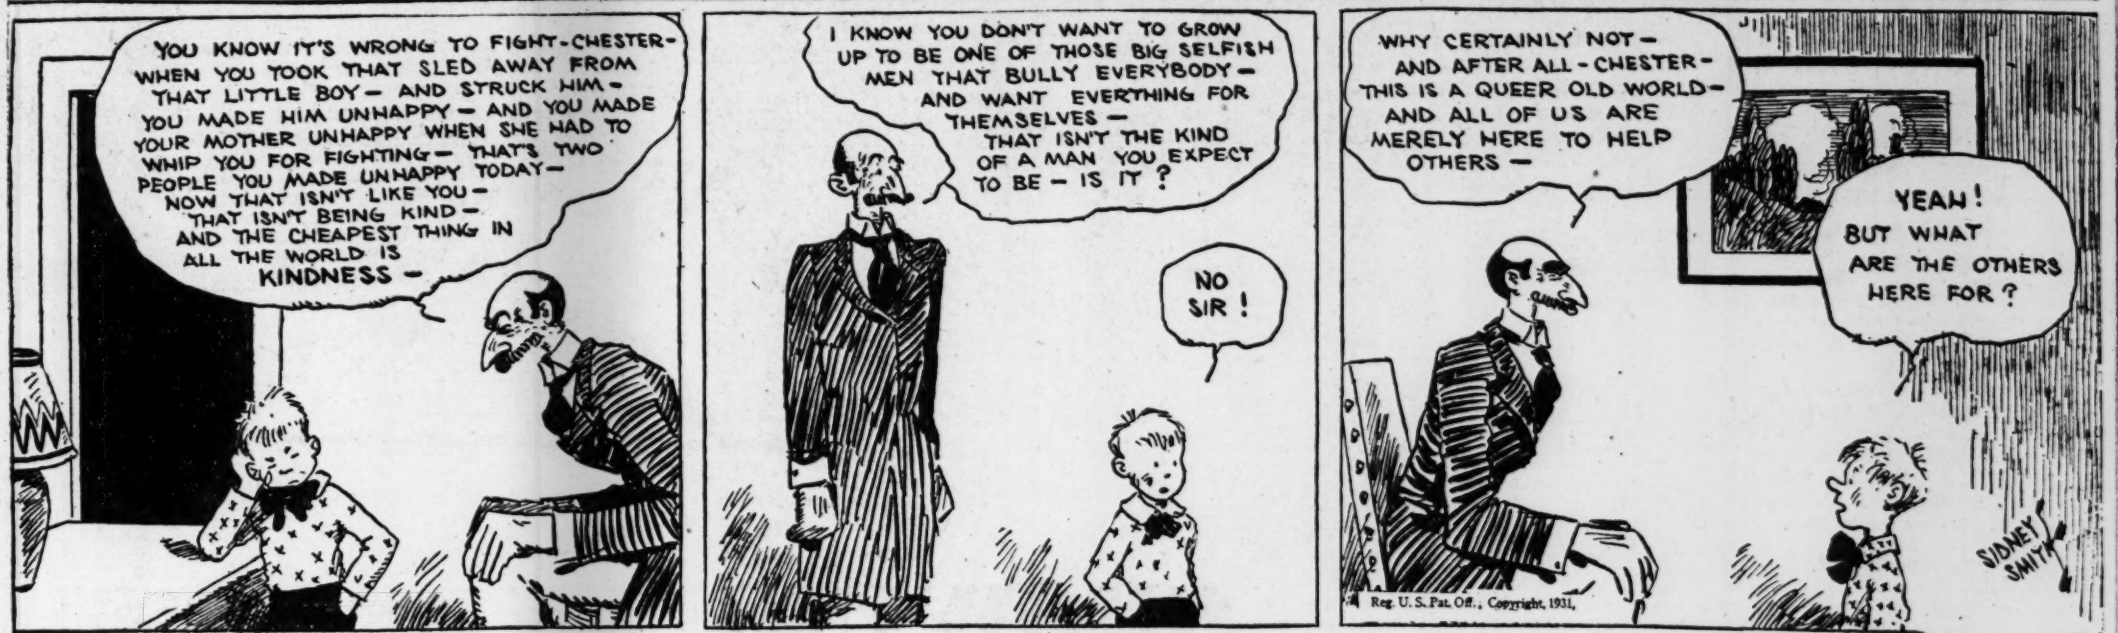

The two men's eyes locked. Neither moved, but both were panting a little, as if their clashing glances had been physical combat.

"If you get Lammie in a jam he can't get out of you're fired, so help me!" Jimmy exploded.

STYLES BY ANNETTE

BECOMING TUNIC TYPE THAT PARIS SENT.

A stunning interpretation for afternoons is this youthful tunic model in printed crepe. The belt rests at the top of the hips and fastens with a strass buckle. However, it is adjustable and may be placed as best suits the wearer. The curved seam at the front of the bodice that simulates a hip yoke gives length to the figure. The tunic and the underskirt extend into graceful flared fullness toward the hem.

Style No. 170 comes in sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, 36 and 38 inches bust. Size 16 requires 4 yards of 39-inch material with 9 yards of binding and 3-4 yard of 35-inch lining. Another lovely idea to fashion it that is a bit formal is sheer metal lame. It's adorable for Sunday night dining and dancing.

Plain flat crepe and wool crepe are excellent selections. The sweater. Price of pattern 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

Mrs. Logue Re-elected President Of Women's Pioneer Society

By unanimous consent, and a vote to overrule the constitution Mrs. Kate Shivers Logue was re-elected president of the Atlanta Women's Pioneer Society at the annual meeting held at the Henry Grady hotel yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Logue enters upon her third term, having served this organization for four years, and her regime has been filled with constructive measures. Elected to serve with the president were Mrs. R. G. Thompson, first vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Lowry Van Dyke, second vice president; Mrs. John S. Cowles, recording secretary; Mrs. Minnie Flynn Clover, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lola Walker Clements, treasurer; Miss Sarah Huff, historian; Miss Annie Forsyth, press chairman; Mrs. Sid Holland, membership chairman, and Mrs. Robert P. Blackburn, program chairman. Mrs. Harry Smith was chairman of the nominating committee, and serving with her were Mesdames C. J. Kicklighter, Harry Morgan, Robert Blackburn.

The purpose of the Women's Pioneer Society is to cherish and preserve the ideals and traditions of the early history of Atlanta, and members prepare papers upon this subject to read at the meetings, which take place the first Wednesday in every month at the Henry Grady hotel. During Mrs. Logue's regime the society sent $5 to Tallulah industrial school, owned and maintained by Georgia Federation; $5 was given towards sending the veterans to Alhambra, and $10 was given towards helping the blind. Because the ground upon which Grant Park school is erected was presented to the city by the late L. P. Grant, the magnanimous donor of Grant park, and one of the most influential and wealthiest pioneer citizens of this city, the Women's Pioneer Society selected Grant Park school grounds upon which to plant crepe myrtle. The motto of the organization is "Love," and there is never any friction in this organization, which is banded together to preserve the friendships of years' standing.

Eight-Club League Assured as Directors Approve Two Stock Deals Promoters Await Arrival of 'Pa' Stribling To Settle Ring Squabble

Bill Redd, the tall basketball man from Chattanooga, is here "ahead" of the "Original Celtics," professional basketball team that will play the Atlanta Jaycees five January 23 at the auditorium.

Bill brings an outstanding pro quintet here annually. The show always is a treat for the thousand and one garden variety of basketball players who like to see basketball-of-the-dreams played.

"The Original Celtics" have been reorganized this year from the recent Rosenblums, of Cleveland, who, in turn, were made up of the old Celtics. Joe Lapchick, Pete Barry, Dutch Dehnert and Davy Banks will be back with a newcomer—"Cookie" Cunningham—as the fifth man. The basketball they play is the poetry of motion over a court; it makes a fine art of the hurry-scurry game as we know it.

McGILL'S SALAD.

This news is too good to keep. Ralph McGill played football and wrestled in his day and now writes sports like every young man wants someday to write.

But being possessed of a frank and vigorous appetite and an artistic nature, he has done no little research into the culinary art, not only with the knife and fork, but with implements of cookery.

Years ago when his waistline was flatter he learned a secret from old man Faucon, a French chef, who charmed Nashville palates with his wizardry. It was the formula for a salad. It is more than a salad. It is a square meal and a benediction.

Not to have eaten of this salad is to have starved.

A few changes perhaps have been made in the formula since McGill committed it to memory. However, if any they were for the better. The recipe has been loaned Rich's. It will be featured today in the tea room. If you overlook it it will be your own fault. Do not blame me.

THE END OF THE TRAIL.

Wayward Boye, the Man Without a Mind, who sold those red uniforms to the Washington State football team, returned yesterday from Pasadena utterly exhausted by the arduous journey, the necessity of eating three meals a day and the rigors of directing the Alabama team through the Rose Bowl game.

"It has been a long hard pull for Wallace and me but we won all there is to win—there isn't any more—so we are going to Duke University to roll cigarettes for the rest of our days," Wayward said in the first statement he has given to the press since the Crimson Tide defeated the Cougars.

"Back in the summer of 1930 that Wallace called me to Tuscaloosa for a conference. He said then in confidence that he was going to Duke by way of California provided everything worked out as he had planned. But he did not see a chance for his daring scheme to succeed unless I would agree to steal Washington State's plays.

"So—now that it is all over—I might as well say that my coup in latching on to the Cougar plays was the real reason Alabama won. It was worth all the nights in an upper and days in the dining room.

"The fact that I missed the train on the stop over at Juarez does not detract from my achievement. In fact the one explains the other. Or am I clear?

"Well, we are through at Tuscaloosa and the show starts in February at Durham. And if they split the conference and leave us alone up there among the Virginias and the Carolinas why Wallace will turn the team over to me to coach."

WAYWARD'S IDEA.

Wayward left immediately with Pa Stribling for New York where Wayward's scheme of matching Max Schmeling with Young Stribling in June for the championship launched August 16 is about to be concluded. Though it is not generally known Wayward is a first cousin of Schmeling's. Many have suspected it, of course.

UNION IS POSSIBLE.

No matter what Wayward's plans may be for staging the Schmeling-Stribling championship fight in Chicago this summer, independently of New York, it is unlikely that the Milk Fund interests will be given a share in the profits in return for their expert help in promoting.

Pa Stribling spoke of the possibility of a union of the forces of the New York American Milk Fund with the Chicago Stadium Corporation.

"If this can be worked out satisfactorily it will result in the largest crowd that ever attended a heavyweight fight in the history of the world," Pa said. "The prices for tickets will be kept within a reasonable limit and it is possible entirely to fill the Soldier Field. I do not imagine Madison Square Garden would be allowed to have a hand in it. They could not have anything to do with it and keep their permit to promote. But the Milk Fund folks could take a hand and earn their share by assisting in the promotion."

It is interesting to speculate thus broadly on the prospect of William Lawrence Stribling, the home boy, fighting the black-browed German for the world's heavyweight title.

Mississippi Aggies Will Play 9 Games New Middleweight In Debut Tonight

STARKVILLE, Miss., Jan. 8.—(P)—Mississippi A. & M. opens its nine-game football schedule for 1931 with Millsaps College at Jackson, Miss., September 26 and closes against the University of Mississippi November 20. Athletic officials announced today. Alabama will be played at Meridian, Miss., October 10.

The schedule follows:
September 26—Millsaps at Jackson, Miss.
October 3—Mississippi College at Starkville.
October 10—University of Alabama, Meridian, Miss.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(P)—Len Harvey, a first-class fighting man from England, will find the short cut to middleweight honors open for him tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden.

The Englishman, with 350 victories behind him in a 10-year career and the vacant middleweight throne yearning for an occupant, battles Vince Dundee, Baltimore Italian in a 12-round feature match.

The bout is Harvey's first engagement in the United States. Critics who watched him in training have accepted him as a genuine fighting man.

DIRECTORS O. K. TWO TRANSFERS; LEAGUE INTACT

Mobile and Little Rock Deals Approved at Meeting.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 8.—(P)—Retention of the eight-club status of the Southern Association was assured tonight with approval by the league directors of the transfer of controlling interest in the Mobile club to Byrd Douglas, Nashville attorney.

Earlier in the day formal sanction was given the sale of the Little Rock club to a group of businessmen of the Arkansas capital.

Douglas gained control of the Mobile franchise by purchase of the majority stockholdings of Jimmy Hamilton, president of the 1930 Mobile club. The Arkansas club passed to the Little Rock business group through purchase from R. G. Allen.

Douglas was formerly elected a member of the board of directors of the league to succeed Hamilton and the membership held by Allen passed to H. Grady Manning. Little Rock businessman and head of a civic committee which engineered the purchase of the club.

PROBLEMS SOLVED.

The action taken today disposed of the two major problems which beset the league since the close of the 1930 season. The meeting today was a continuation of one held last week, called to discuss a six-club circuit as an alternative in the event of trouble situations at Mobile and Little Rock could not be speedily adjusted. The six-club idea, however, was held in abeyance when negotiations were opened which resulted in the solution found today.

The schedule committee will hold a meeting here tomorrow, and will report to the directors at a meeting here January 20.

The draft and optional player question also will be taken up January 20.

KNOXVILLE OUT.

Tonight's completion of the Mobile deal left Knoxville definitely out of the association picture. City Councilman W. N. Smith, leader of a hard fight to bring Southern association baseball there, was here, but did not appear before the directors.

City Commissioner Harry Hartwell, of Mobile, promised the city will contribute $15,000 as operating capital to start the club this year.

John D. Martin, association president, said Douglas and Hamilton could not have come to terms had this not been the case. He said this guarantee, the league president, Douglas Hamilton and Milton Scott, new Mobile manager, remained in conference after the meeting.

Terms of both the Little Rock and Mobile deals remained undisclosed.

Blue Ridge League Seeks Major Backing.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Jan. 8.—(P)—The Blue Ridge league, oldest class B league in organized baseball, today looked to the majors for sufficient financial assistance to operate as a six-club organization. During 1930 the league had four teams, Frederick and Hagerstown in Maryland, and Chambersburg and Waynesboro in Pennsylvania.

Martinsburg and Hanover, Pennsylvania, members of the league prior to last season, were represented as willing to return if backed by a major league team to the extent of $5,000. In return the sponsoring team would receive the right to take into its own club any players desired.

J. Y. Jamison, Jr., president of the league for the last 15 years, submitted his resignation explaining pressure of his business requiring his entire attention. Vice president J. H. Thompson and others prevailed upon him to continue in office at least for the present because of the uncertainty of plans for the coming season. He agreed to hold the reins until a meeting is called in the first week of February.

In the event Martinsburg or Hanover were accepted as potential members for the 1931 season it was explained that Carlisle, Pa., and Winchester, Va., were being considered.

5 Players Added To Lookout Club

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 8.—(P)—Five players, four outfielders and a first baseman, were added to the Lookout roster, sent here from Washington. Secretary Emerson announced.

The players: Harley Boss, first baseman; Richard Goldberg, Gordon Phelps, Alvin Powell, Bill Banks, outfielders. Boss was with the Lookouts the first of last season, but returned to Washington when a bad knee kept him off the field. Powell finished the season with the Lookouts. The other three will be new to the Southern association.

Carlos Moore, pitcher, and Ray Treadaway, third baseman, already had been sent to Chattanooga by Washington. Wes Kingdon, a shortstop, and four pitchers have been bought. Joe Engel is almost ready to start the season with the players now on hand. A good centerfielder is the principal objective now.

Waycross Quintet In Debut Tonight

Coach M. L. Ableson will choose his starting Bulldogs lineup from a squad of 24 players. He has been assisted in his early season training assignments by Miss Sara Stella Smith. The starting team for the girls' game will be selected from a squad of 34 candidates, the largest in the history of Waycross High.

BARNARD SEES GREAT 1931 RACE

American League President Believes Better Baseball Ahead.

By E. S. Barnard.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—(P)—It is with satisfaction that I review the American league season of 1930, not only because the champions of our league won the world series for the fourth straight year and the third straight in fact, but also because there was more spirited competition in the league than there had been for several seasons.

During the first half of the campaign, Washington and Cleveland each wrestled the lead from the Athletics. While New York always was a threat, of course, the Athletics maintained a fairly safe lead the last two months of the season but Washington was dangerous. Cleveland's young finish, which Connie Mack was compelled to call upon Pitches Grove and Earnshaw in and out of turn in order to preserve that lead.

Although such a statement may seem to be stereotyped, I actually believe that the race in the American league in 1931 will be even closer. Cleveland's young finish, which has been strengthened, is sure to be more of a factor. Washington can be depended upon to put up another great fight. New York, under the management of Joe McCarthy, who had a most successful five-year term as leader of the Chicago Cubs, may be expected to be a greater contender than it was in 1930. I also look for Detroit to show marked improvement as a result of valuable acquisitions. And, if Chicago adds some punch to its capable pitching staff, it is going to prove more dangerous.

The expected adoption of several amendments to the minor-league agreement should prove of great benefit to the minor leagues and go far toward relieving them from the distress they have encountered as the result of the financial depression and also the obsolete rules under which they were operating. In fact, such adoption affords me the most satisfaction for I am positive the minor leagues will prove to be the greatest beneficiaries of such amendments.

Sidney Wood Enters Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 8.—(P)—Sidney R. Wood, Jr., tennis star of New York and Pasadena, Cal., has announced his intention of entering the University of Arizona.

"I expect to come here to get away from tennis," he explained yesterday, "and because I like to be out of doors."

'Professors of Balls' Hit by 'Alfalfa Bill'

Oklahoma Governor Starts War on Athletics; Recommends the "Ole Swimm' Hole."

By Ralph McGill.

LIFE for the athletic coaches becomes more and more hazardous each season. In fact it might be possible to go before most any state legislature and have a bill passed making it legal to go hunting for coaches during the two months of each season. That is to say, hunting with guns and not with contracts.

Oklahoma is about to throw another bunker on the life course of the athletic men.

Out there, where men are men and good whisky once sold for a dollar a quart, there is a move on which will make it increasingly hard to produce a champion.

Oklahoma has just elected a new governor, one W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray.

AND Governor Murray has launched an attack on what he terms the "professors of balls" in the various state institutions.

Governor Murray, whom the political writers say, is a burlesque of the same mental kidney as "Alfalfa Bill," says in Urbe. "This means football, basketball, highballs and all other kinds of balls. It also means we need fewer professors of balls."

CRUEL STILL GOOD.

When the legislature was asked to appropriate $150,000 to build a swimming pool for the state university, young men and women, Alfalfa Bill pointed out that the creek in which he swam as a boy was still flowing. "We need less balls and fewer 'frills,'" says Mr. Urbe. "This means football, basketball, highballs and all other kinds of balls. It also means we need fewer professors of balls."

Should any more governors be elected of the same mental kidney as "Alfalfa Bill" Murray the coaching profession will come into disrepute very quickly indeed.

BOYS' HIGH FIVE OFF FOR MACON

BOYS' High basketball team will formally open its 1931 G. I. A. A. schedule at 8 o'clock tonight on the city auditorium court in Macon, Ga., with Lanier High as its opponent. It also marks the first high school to visit Macon this season.

After a couple of practice skirmishes Coach Dave Johnston has spent much time since the opening of school in whipping his team into shape. Captain Brewer, "Kitty" Katz, Leak Doneho and Billy Glenn, who were members of the football team, began practice Monday and will be ready for the game tonight.

Others who have won prominence and are likely to see service are Stacy, J. Smith and Kzall.

Dan Howley Saves Florida Swimmer

PALE BEACH, Fla., Jan. 8.—(P)—Dan Howley, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, assumed the role of life guard here today and rescued a girl from the surf.

The girl fainted in the water and Howley reached her and started for the shore. He was met by Heinie Manush, Washington outfielder; Clyde Engel, baseball scout; Gene Wernuth, of Boston, and J. Mauer, retired captain of the New York fire department, who helped the Cincinnati pilot bring the girl up on the beach.

The girl revived after a short time but declined to give her name, disappearing later among other bathers on the beach.

ART JORGENSEN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—(P)—Art Jorgensen, New York Yankees catcher who lives in Chicago, is keeping in shape for baseball by playing independent basketball. He also coaches a church league court team.

SPEED KINGS SEEK RECORDS

Captain Campbell Likely To Abandon Course at Daytona Beach.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 8.—(P)—Belief that Captain Malcolm Campbell, veteran British race car driver, would decide upon new soil instead of Daytona Beach, Fla., as a site for his proposed attack upon the world's automobile speed record, was expressed here today by L. Warren Baker, Florida representative of the American Automobile Association contest board.

Baker, who has officiated at all record trials at Daytona Beach in recent years, said inability of city officials there to raise sufficient funds to defray expenses for another speed meet this year has led Captain Campbell to consider a beach at North Aukland, New Zealand, for the scene of his effort to break the present record of 231 miles an hour.

Should Campbell decide upon the New Zealand beach, which is approximately 30 miles long, he would be the second contender for the record who plans to stage speed trials there early this year. Norman "Wizard" Smith, another British driver, already has announced intention of going there in March with a car which he said, has a theoretical speed of approximately 300 miles an hour.

Baker said that since plans for a speed meet at Daytona Beach this year first got under way, considerable correspondence has been exchanged between Daytona Beach officials, Campbell and the latter's American representative, C. O. Macconachie, of New York, regarding Campbell's proposed trials, but that they had been unable to agree upon a division of expenses.

Campbell recently announced he would sail January 14 from England en route to Daytona Beach, but since then Baker said he had been advised by the American Automobile Association headquarters that the British driver has said he would plan to leave soon for New Zealand unless satisfactory financial arrangements were made at Daytona Beach.

J. P. C. Defeated By Mercer, 41-36

MACON, Ga., Jan. 8.—(P)—The Mercer Bears served notice that they're going to be serious contenders for collegiate honors tonight by opening their 1931 season with a 41-36 victory over the speedy Jewish Progressive Club five of Atlanta.

Captain Peggy Campbell and Jimmie Wilkes, Mercer's crack pair of forwards, between them scored 32 of Mercer's points, the former getting 14 and the latter 18 points.

D. Spielberger and Finkelstein led the scoring for the visitors with 12 points apiece.

Tech To Name Captain At Banquet Tonight

Georgia Tech's annual football banquet, at which time the captain and alternate for 1931 will be named, will be held at 7 o'clock tonight in the school dining room. Only members of the Georgia Tech coaching staff, varsity, grey devils and freshman football players, newspaper men and others with invitations will attend the banquet.

The dinner will be given by the Georgia Tech Athletic board. Coach W. A. Alexander will award sweaters and letters together with gold T's to members of the team.

CAREY SEEKING TO 'LAND' STRIB FOR SHARKEY GO

Lewis Makes Little Headway as Milk Fund Has Schmeling Contract.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(P)—The heavyweights, confused and muddled in arguments, marked time today, waiting for the arrival of "Pa" Stribling before settling finally whether Max Schmeling will fight young Stribling in Chicago, Detroit or Cleveland, or whether Stribling will tackle Jack Sharkey in New York.

"Pa" Stribling is due tomorrow from Miami, Fla., and is committed definitely to a championship duel for his son in Chicago early in June with the German who was stripped of his title by the New York State Athletic Commission Tuesday.

William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden, wants to host today in an effort to sign Jack Sharkey to a contract for a match with Stribling here in June, a bout the New York commission said it would recognize as for the vacant title. Carey has little hope, however, of winning Stribling over to such a match.

Nate Lewis, matchmaker for the Chicago stadium and the original $500,000 bidder for the Schmeling-Stribling match in Chicago, made little headway toward signing the match. It appeared that the Hearst Milk Fund, which has Schmeling under contract, will stage the match itself in the Midwest. Stribling already has come to terms with Lewis but it appears that he will agree to any promoter Schmeling suggests.

Sharkey-Carnera Bout Is Rumored

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Jack Sharkey versus Primo Carnera for the world was today's boxing rumor. The plan is not as fantastic as it might appear. Max Schmeling, champion, was deprived of his title on order of the New York boxing commission Tuesday. The commission then proposed that Sharkey meet with Stribling in a "title" bout. But it now appears that Stribling is committed to a Schmeling bout elsewhere, and Carnera would draw a crowd.

Jimmy West Wins Opening Match

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 8.—(P)—Fifteen-year-old Win Day Chicago shot-maker, stole the show in first amateur play of the annual Miami midwinter amateur golf tournament here today with his 1-up victory over Millard Chase, Buffalo, in 19 holes.

The pair played evenly through the day at Miami Country club course, coming through the 18th hole, where the Chicago youngster pulled a birdie 3 in the 19th hole to cop the match and advance to tomorrow's quarter-finals.

Jack B. Ryerson, Cooperstown, N. Y., and medalist in the tourney, found little trouble in beating Ken Berry, Miami, aside with a 6-and-4 match.

Jim West, of Miami, defending his 1930 championship of the amateur classic, was defeated at the 18th hole from T. C. Woodward, Middletown, Ohio.

Other championship flight results:
Mack Fisher, New York city, won, 1-up, from Jack Viles, Chicago.
C. A. Tifer, New York city, won, 4 and 3, from George Anson, Merrill, Wis.
Leo Chase, Buffalo, won, 1-up, from Dick Smith, Chicago.
C. Durand, Brooklyn, won, 4 and 3, from C. A. Bailey, Akron, Ohio, won, 2-up, from Frank Lewis, Miami.

Eighteen-hole quarter-finals will be played tomorrow.

84 Horses Named For Famous Chase

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Jan. 8.—(P)—Eighty-four horses were named today as eligible to start in the 92nd running of the Grand National steeplechase to be decided over the historic Aintree course of four and one-half miles on Friday, March 27.

The entries include two former winners, Graveling of 1928 and Sherrin Gollin, the surprise victor of 1930's gruelling test. In addition the top-notchers of the steeplechase divisions of England and Ireland are listed, along with many jumpers that would have little chance in any other race than the Grand National, where big fields and difficult hazards take a large toll of the starters.

Easter Hero, rated as one of England's best, will carry the silks of John Hoy Whitney, American owner. Melleray's Belle and Sir Lindsay (also owned by Whitney), which finished second and third, respectively, in Gravelin last year, again will compete for the coveted purse. Other outstanding candidates are Bright's Boy, Bally Hanwood, Great Span and Grakle, a pre-race favorite of 1930.

The race was worth about $47,000 last year but in 1929 carried a value of $65,000, when a record field of 66 started.

Wide Open Event For Field Trials

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss., Jan. 8. (AP)—Spectacular field work with birds finds plentiful despite a day of cloudy weather tonight had whipped the all-time stake of the All-America Field Trial Club into a wide open affair and "anybody's race."

Twenty-five of the 40 dogs entered in the stake had completed their trial heats when the last brace was called this afternoon.

Of the dogs which ran today the pointer, Shores Carolina Jack, owned by T. Carey Bally, of Baltimore, and handled by R. D. Bevan, of Thomasville, N. C., chalked up what was considered an errorless race, running fast and wide and handling his birds to perfection.

Other dogs which proved good bird finders and ran well included the pointers, Sand Line, owned by M. S. Hughes, of Bristol, Okla.; Woodleigh's Buckshot, owned by F. B. Howler, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Ferris Proctor Rimpkin, owned by C. H. Phelps, of New York, and Yankee Doodle Jack, owned by Jewel L. Hicks, of Tulsa, Okla.

RALPH GREENLEAF.
Ralph Greenleaf's game has not suffered as a result of his setback in the world's championship. Just a few days ago in a match against Andrew St. Jean in New York, he missed in his first two innings, then ran 122. He is satisfied with his game and his only hope is that he can get a special return match against Erwin Rudolph, present titleholder.

Twin Bill Opens Cadet Class Play

Georgia Military Academy's class basketball tournament was opened with a double-header Thursday afternoon in the school gymnasium. The band defeated the faculty, 20 to 13, and B Company upset six members of the football squad representing A Company, 16 to 5.

The long-winded members of the band wore down the faculty and substituted several new players and walked away with the victory. Mac was the star with six points. He was ably assisted by Baker, J. Paget, DeJarnette, Midulla, Hoffberger, Proctor, Smouse and Hamilton. Members of the faculty team included McQuarrie and Keith, who were outstanding; Shartie, Hudson, Burbage, Paget, Butts and Brewster.

B Company's midget team of Ryan, Chambers, B. Bouliware, Clements, Wills and Zofrest, with Wills the star, easily defeated the football stars from A Company. Pendleton played best for the losers and was assisted by Stewart, Anthony, Ludwig, all-around football center; Hornsby and Peters.

Another double-header is slated for next Monday afternoon.

Tom Heuston Wins Billiard Match
NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—It took Thomas Heuston, of New York, former world champion, only five innings and 41 minutes today to defeat Charles Seaback, of Boston, in the interstate pocket billiards tournament. The score was 125 to 8. Heuston had a high run of 70.

BEAN TO COACH YOUNG RINGMEN IN GYM AT A. A. C.

Club Officials Are Planning for Great Tourney This Year.

By Ralph McGill.

Atlanta's amateur boxing champions will be decided at the Atlanta Athletic Club on the evening of January 23, it was announced Thursday by Joe Bean, athletic director.

The championships are in line with the club's policy of fostering all amateur sports. Fight programs have been offered during the past two seasons.

Joe Bean has been appointed boxing instructor at the club. All amateur boxers in the city are invited to attend the boxing classes at the club each afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. They will be given free instructions by Coach Joe Bean.

Coach Bean is enthusiastic about the plan and the club directors are looking forward to one of the finest boxing shows in the history of the boxing activities.

The city championship will precede the Southeastern A. A. C. boxing tournament which will be held at the club February 12, 13 and 14. Atlanta boxers, who will be developed by the city tournament, will be entered in the southeastern meet.

The latter meet will be an important one, bringing in some of the south's finest college boxers and a number from the clubs over the southeast.

Other decisions of the club's meeting Thursday included one which lowers the price of admission to the basketball games from $1 to 50 cents. The public is invited to attend all games at the club.

The next game scheduled is one bringing in Georgia Tech against the club five on Saturday night.

GRAPE GROWERS CLAIM PLAN TO JAR 'LEGGERS'
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8. (AP)—California grape producers came forward today with a plan they said would jar the country's bootleggers and at the same time benefit 150,000 persons and "help to save the $350,000,000 grape industry from financial disaster."

The plan is contained in a booklet circulated by Fruit Industries, Ltd., a government-sponsored co-operative. The booklet implies Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former prohibition prosecutor for the department of justice, became counsel for Fruit Industries, Ltd., to battle the bootlegger.

The booklet points out that the Volstead law does not prohibit fruit juices in the home and says "the fulfillment of this plan will save a $350,000,000 industry from financial disaster. There will be vast human benefits, continued and new employment of scores of thousands of men and women; the redemption of thousands of farm homes which are threatened with extinction by overwhelming mortgage debts; the preservation of an American standard of living throughout a great state; the help of law enforcement through closing of present sources of supply to bootleggers and racketeers; practical proof of the feasibility of the federal farm relief program; and the bringing to almost every American home at reasonable cost of a health-giving, delicious food product, now for the first time made available the year around."

Woodberry Hall Plays Saturday

Woodberry Hall will meet the strong Jonesboro Girls' basketball team at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon on the Y. W. C. A. court.

It will be the first of a series of games with various teams in and around Atlanta. The game will be played under the regular girls' rules. Members of the Woodberry team are: Sally Lewis, Genitive Wright, Lucile James, Barbara Root, Rose Cleary, Evelyn Burns, Helen Chapman, Mary Williams, Dorothy Hill, Mary Phelps, "Jo" Lawler, Jean Robinson, "Kat" Kelly, Marie Beckett, Joyce Robinson and Vivian Boston.

The championships are in line with the club's policy of fostering all amateur sports. Fight programs have been offered during the past two seasons.

Joe Bean has been appointed boxing instructor at the club. All amateur boxers in the city are invited to attend the boxing classes at the club each afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. They will be given free instructions by Coach Joe Bean.

Coach Bean is enthusiastic about the plan and the club directors are looking forward to one of the finest boxing shows in the history of the boxing activities.

The city championship will precede the Southeastern A. A. C. boxing tournament which will be held at the club February 12, 13 and 14. Atlanta boxers, who will be developed by the city tournament, will be entered in the southeastern meet.

The latter meet will be an important one, bringing in some of the south's finest college boxers and a number from the clubs over the southeast.

Other decisions of the club's meeting Thursday included one which lowers the price of admission to the basketball games from $1 to 50 cents. The public is invited to attend all games at the club.

HIGHLIGHTS OF WALL STREET

By CHARLES W. STORM,

Editor, the News Service of Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(NANA)—

The most significant development in the present stock market is that it is beginning to ignore unfavorable news just as it ignored favorable news during the bear movement.

A striking instance of the resistance of the general list was furnished early in the day when a rumor reached the floor that the price of copper metal would be reduced one-quarter of a cent a pound. This rumor was accompanied by selling in the copper group which caused sharp recessions in Anconia Copper. The heaviness extended in a functional way to the balance of the list. It developed, however, that offerings of stocks were well taken and that the buying was better than the selling. Actual announcement of the reduction came in the midst of a rally and was ignored in the forward movement. Decline in the price of silver was also ignored.

BULLISH DEVELOPMENT.

The most bullish development during the day, however, was the announcement of an increase of 50 cents a ton in the price of scrap steel. Inasmuch as the price trend of scrap steel furnishes an indication as to probable subsequent changes in steel prices, the Street immediately assumed that there was some basis in fact for the recovery rumors of another increase to come in steel prices.

The advance of the price of scrap steel was followed by increased inquiry for Steel common and Republic Iron & Steel shares.

POOLS ACTIVE.

Pool activity continued in a number of stocks and began to appear in the Simmonses. Company stock showed strength for the first time in weeks, although the company's sales for December showed a decrease of 36.4 per cent and 25 per cent for the 12 months. In connection with strength of Simmonses stock rumors were current that the company had succeeded in completing arrangements for the sale of $15,000,000 of notes.

A strong group has become interested in the market for American Safety Razor and it continued its advance of the previous day, rising to a new high price for this movement.

MORTON T. NICHOLAS, EX-ATLANTAN, PASSES

Successful Finance Writer of New York Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Morton T. Nicholas, 34, New York stock market expert and former financial writer on the staff of the Wall Street Journal, was a member of the graduating class at Oglethorpe University in 1920, died of pneumonia Wednesday night in a hospital at Englewood, N. J., his home. Mr. Nicholas was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Nicholas, of 3934 Peachtree road. A native of Easley, S. C., where funeral services will probably be held, Mr. Nicholas attended the Atlanta public schools before entering Oglethorpe, where he graduated with honors. After leaving school he entered the journalistic field in New York, establishing a reputation for keen analysis of financial conditions during his connection with the Wall Street Journal.

He was a veteran of the World War, having served as a lieutenant in the 118th Field Artillery. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Florence Allen Nicholas, formerly of Connecticut; a six-year-old son, Robert Allen Nicholas; his parents, and a brother, Robert Nicholas, at one time captain of the Oglethorpe football team. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

FORMER CANDY CLERK WINS $120,000 SUIT

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 8.—(P)—Mrs. Grace V. Howard, former candy clerk, today was awarded $120,000 damages by a jury which heard her allegation suit against the wealthy Miss Sidney Emeline Boyle.

Mrs. Howard, who eloped with Lloyd Boyle Howard, Miss Boyle's foster-son, in 1925, asked $200,000 on the ground that Miss Boyle was responsible for the estrangement of the couple.
